

I'm building a business

Brighton used to repair bicycles, but now he makes low-tech household and irrigation water pumps that are simple to use and easy to maintain. He sells them to households and farmers who want to improve their lives and livelihoods and his business has been so successful that he has been able to buy another shop. He is now hiring staff, so that he can provide even more customers with reliable access to clean, safe water.

Beyond Water trains local entrepreneurs in technical and business skills, encouraging them to set up sustainable small businesses. Increasing access to water for communities, families and farmers and helping them build a healthier and more economically prosperous Malawi.

Learn how the 25 entrepreneurs in our pilot project brought clean, safe water to almost 22,000 people and how you can get involved at www.beyondwater.co.uk.
